

SEAVEY ACRES – 179 PIONEER ROAD – RYE, NH

Green trail: 0.63 miles
Orange trail: 0.94 miles

Total Distance: 1.57 miles

Difficulty: Easy to Moderate

- Hiking
- Wildlife viewing
- Other passive recreation
- Hunting in season

Dogs are allowed off-leash on conservation land. We ask that all dog owners respect the trails, our neighbors who abut conservation land and others who you encounter on the trails. Dogs that are off leash must be in control of their owners and within the owner's sight. There are waste bags available on many trails and we ask that used waste bags are taken home with you.

Seavey Acres

Seavey Acres is a 59 acre area managed by the Rye Conservation Commission for conservation and recreation purposes.

In 1992 the Town of Rye purchased a 70-acre property known as Seavey Acres. This pristine conservation land has a long history with the Seavey family of Rye/New Castle/Chichester NH. The original Seavey ownership dates back to the late 1600's but in the early 1700 this land was sold to Joshua Rand when he married Ruth Seavey; this marriage resulted in 9 children. Their first child, a son, Captain Daniel Rand was born in 1777, married Dorothy Seavey in 1801 and continued to live at this location. Captain Rand served in the war of 1812 under Captain E. Philbrick. Daniel and Dorothy Rand had 10 children. Their youngest son, Amos, was born in 1821. The white home that sits on Pioneer Road at the intersection of Pioneer and Brackett is the oldest Seavey home from this part of Rye and is attributed to Amos Seavey.

Seavey Acres is not only an important part of Rye's history but is important conservation land. Berry Brook, originating in Dover NH, runs through this acreage on its way to the ocean. Seavey Acres is also the home of large vernal pools. Vernal pools are seasonal bodies of water that provide habitat for plants and animals. Amphibians are associated with vernal pools and provide an important food source for small carnivores as well as large game species.

There are two trails on Seavey Acres – an Orange trail and Green trail. Both originate from the small parking lot on Pioneer Road. The green trail is a straight shot through the parcel ending at the end of Berry Brook Lane development.

Location: 179 Pioneer Road, Rye, NH

Length: Green trail: 0.63 miles
Orange trail: 0.94 miles

Difficulty: Easy to Moderate

Uses:

- Hiking
- Wildlife viewing
- Other passive recreation
- Hunting in season

Dogs are allowed off-leash on conservation land. We ask that all dog owners respect the trails, our neighbors who abut conservation land and others who you encounter on the trails. Dogs that are off leash must be in control of their owners and within the owner's sight. There are waste bags available on many trails and we ask that used waste bags are taken home with you.

Non-motorized activities including hiking, running, biking, skiing and snowshoeing allow for year-round enjoyment on established trails.

Hunting in season within the Seavey Acres is permitted unless otherwise posted. All visitors should wear day-glow orange for safety during hunting seasons.

SEAVEY ACRES

179 Pioneer Road
Town of Rye, N.H.

